Finson moved to Athens, Greece, in January 2015, leaving his job in Norway behind, fully committing to working on his own music.

With this new release, Finson will donate 50% of the digital sales to WWF's project "Stop Wildlife Crime", encouraging listeners to take action towards a sustainable planet.

*"I've become more and more aware of the fact that this planet with all its beauty and life is very fragile, and we are all as one big organism, connected and dependent on each other."
- Finson*

The EP "Going South" gives the listener a feeling of hope and optimism, and invites you on a journey through intriguing harmonies, melodies and an exciting soundscape. The record presents various acoustic performances like strings, harp, vocals and drums, and has a chill-out vibe.

The music might give you associations with artists like Air, Röyksopp and Zero 7.
